

YOGA AND MINDFULNESS MINOR

The Division of Kinesiology, Health and Sport Studies in the College of Education offers a minor in Yoga and Mindfulness for undergraduate and graduate students majoring in any discipline. The minor provides an excellent opportunity for students to broaden their knowledge of yoga and mindfulness philosophy, practice, and teaching skills. In addition, the program enhances career prospects across all professions as students learn how to integrate and design yoga and mindfulness activities and programs within their area of study. As restorative practices, yoga and mindfulness enables anyone working in health care, social work, education, exercise, etc. professions to practice self-care and better serve the individuals they serve in their respective careers.

To be eligible to apply for the Yoga and Mindfulness minor, students must have a minimum overall grade point average of 2.75. For advising regarding the yoga and mindfulness minor, students with last names A-K should contact Fawne Allossery (ac9010@wayne.edu). Students with last names L-Z should contact Kurt Troutman (fz4394@wayne.edu).

The Yoga and Mindfulness minor allows students in any department across all schools and colleges at WSU to add yoga and mindfulness skills and knowledge as an added credential to their degree programs. The addition of a Yoga and Mindfulness minor will expand employment opportunities and add expertise in yoga and mindfulness philosophy and theory, holistic health promotion, knowledge of body movement and mechanics, and leading others in yoga and mindfulness programs in many different career settings.

The minor is a minimum of 15 credit hours consisting of the courses listed below (9 credit hours of required cores and 6 credit hours of elective courses). The electives allow the student to further develop yoga and mindfulness skills by applying them to specific content areas. Additional courses can qualify as electives in consultation with an advisor in the Division of Academic Services in the College of Education.
